1. Antimetabole
   - an inverted order of repeated words in adjacent phrases or clauses (A-B, B-A).

   If you can't be with the one you love, love the one you're with.

2. Antithesis
   - There are 2 contrasting ideas that is being compared.

   Keep your mouth closed and your eyes open

3. Aphorism
   - To inspire someone to be wise
   - a short witty sentence which expresses a general truth or comment

   Easy come, easy go

4. Apostrophe
   - a speaker directly addresses someone (or something) that is not present or cannot respond in reality.

   "Oh, coffee, my sweet dark coffee. What would I do without you?"

5. Asyndeton
   - a rhetorical device where the omission of conjunction is marked by a comma.
   - Without the use of conjunctions
   - FANBOYS
     for, and, nor, but, or, yet, so

6. Cacophony
   - a harsh discordant mixture of sounds.

   He grunted and in a gruff voice said, “Give me that trash and I'll throw it out!” This sentence makes use of cacophony in a few ways: “grunted,” “gruff,” and “give” have harsh g sounds and “that,” “trash,” and “throw it out” all have hard t sounds.

7. Chiasmus
   - a two-part sentence or phrase, where the second part is a mirror image of the first.

     “When the going gets tough, the tough get going”

Antimetabole is the repetition of words or phrases. Chiasmus is the repetition of similar concepts within a repeated grammatical structure, but doesn't necessarily involve the repetition of the same words.

8. Litotes